1 Chureito Pagoda
Offers one of the most iconic views of Japan – the vivid red pagoda, Mount Fuji in the background, especially beautiful during cherry blossom (spring) and autumn foliage. A favourite spot for photographers.

2 Oshino Hakkai
Oshino Hakkai is a scenic village located near Mount Fuji, Japan, famous for its eight crystal-clear ponds. These ponds are fed by the snowmelt from Mount Fuji, which filters through volcanic rocks, making the water remarkably clear. The village is a designated World Heritage Site and offers breathtaking views of Mount Fuji, traditional Japanese architecture, and serene landscapes.

3 Kitaguchi Hongu Fuji Sengen Jinja Shrine
Kitaguchi Hongu Fuji Sengen Jinja Shrine is a historic Shinto shrine located at the base of Mount Fuji in Fujiyoshida City, Japan. It's a sacred site dedicated to the goddess of Mount Fuji, Konohanasakuya-hime, and serves as the starting point for the Mount Fuji Yoshidaguchi hiking trail. The shrine is renowned for its stunning architecture, beautiful gardens, and majestic thousand-year-old cedar trees.

4 Lake Kawaguchiko
Lake Kawaguchiko is a picturesque lake located at the foot of Mount Fuji in Yamanashi Prefecture, Japan. It's one of the Fuji Five Lakes, offering breathtaking views of the iconic mountain, especially during sunrise and sunset. The lake's calm waters reflect Mount Fuji's majestic beauty, making it a popular destination for nature lovers, photographers, and those seeking relaxation.

5 Oishi Park
Oishi Park is a picturesque spot located on the northern shore of Lake Kawaguchi, offering breathtaking views of Mount Fuji. This beautiful park is renowned for its vibrant seasonal flowers, including lavender, tulips, and begonias, which create a stunning backdrop against the majestic mountain.

6 Lake Saiko
Lake Saiko is a serene and picturesque lake located in Yamanashi Prefecture, Japan, near Mount Fuji. It's one of the Fuji Five Lakes, known for its tranquil atmosphere, stunning scenery, and outdoor activities.

7

Mt. Fuji Subaru Line 5th Station

Mt. Fuji Subaru Line 5th Station is a popular starting point for climbers and tourists alike, located at an elevation of 2,305 meters on the Yoshida Trail. It's the most developed and accessible of the four 5th stations on Mount Fuji, offering stunning views of the surrounding landscape and Fuji Five Lakes.

8

Fuji-Q Highland

Fuji-Q Highland is a thrilling amusement park located at the foot of Mount Fuji in Yamanashi Prefecture, Japan. It's renowned for its record-breaking roller coasters, including Fujiyama and Eejanaika, as well as its terrifying haunted house, Super Scary Labyrinth of Fear. The park offers a range of attractions for all ages, from intense thrill rides to family-friendly areas like Thomas Land and La Ville de Gaspard et Lisa.
